15:26:47 From Yolanda Spiva to All panelists : especially because white crime is considered opportunism. black purported and alleged crimes are considered a death sentence.

15:26:53 From Davirah Timm-Dinkins to All panelists : Unfortunately, systems keep racism alive. Beyond just individual actions. We need to be active agents in dismantling those systems.

15:28:18 From Joy Toms to All panelists : I appreciate the rawness of your words.

15:28:22 From Rossy C. Garcia : I'm trying not to be cynical about all the support because this is nothing new for us. I'm truly waiting for things to go back to "normal"

15:28:33 From Alexander Del Rosario : We need to check on ourselves first and then take needed steps to become agents of positive change!

15:28:51 From Yolanda Spiva to All panelists : but statements and stances are light work. this is systemic and the systems must be dismantled and rebuilt for the future!

15:29:05 From Shana Baird to All panelists : That's a valid concern Dana Wile....Local control has to listen and be ready to do the work as well

15:29:07 From Caroline Perry to All panelists : yes, Tanisha!

15:29:13 From Eleese Slaughter to All panelists : Yes, happening for too long

15:29:33 From Rossy C. Garcia : Yes!

15:29:33 From Matthew Shervington to All panelists : Dana and Rossy, I agree. Or the concern that administrators see the need to handle the adjustment to COVID upon returning in the fall as "more important" than these issues.

15:29:35 From Dr. Teresa Toro to All panelists : I agree, Alexander! And we need to be aware and check on our fellow faculty members. We need to have courageous conversations with our faculty and staff.

15:29:39 From lane madsen : I am grateful for the support from my personal building in administration and teachers, but there are others that I'm shocked are not standing up.

15:29:57 From Elektra Thompson : I,Äôm looking for systemic change. You can,Äôt necessarily change how a racist may think, but you can change the laws that were created that hold our children back because of these biases and prejudices.

15:30:01 From Angelina Jones-Farley : yes thank you Tinisha

15:30:04 From suzanne desimone to All panelists : Being a good person is not enough. Not being racist is not enough. Thank you, Tinisha.

15:30:08 From Ashley Dale to All panelists : It's not enough to say I'm not a racist. It's time we answer the calling of being anti-racist.

15:30:09 From meka banks to All panelists : Sad truth. This is not new for us. Broken system but we are resilient and remain hopeful.

15:30:16 From Siedra Pitts to All panelists : Great points, Dr. Parker!

15:30:30 From Lori Hackett : ,ù$,ù$,ù$

15:30:48 From Tiffany Rhodriquez : Thank you, Tinisha.

15:30:49 From Gwendolyn Hamby to All panelists : I love hearing that about your Dad! Tell him thank you for that.

15:32:09 From Laura Fortson-Williams : yes brian! And some of us are THE only black person on staff, in the building, in predominantly white schools,ÄŒ.:- (

15:32:10 From Heidi Warm : I appreciate the "being lost," as a white Counselor in a Black elementary school.

15:32:12 From Alicia Oglesby to All panelists : So many inspirational words. Thank you!!

15:32:24 From Ruperto Peres : Black students do not need White tears..

15:32:26 From Lakisha Bonner to All panelists : Thanks Dr Parker! You are amazing!

15:33:15 From Caleine Ajusma : Thank you, Jennifer!

15:33:16 From meka banks to All panelists : Correct, but they do need white allies

15:33:38 From Sophia Rose, PhD : So true.

15:33:39 From Elektra Thompson : I am learning many families do not talk about culture, race, and inequity. In turn, this shapes their perceptions and how they move.

15:33:40 From Veronica Vasquez to All panelists : Yes, Jennifer!

15:33:45 From Dana Wile : To the grad student that asked a question about preparing- get involved in the work in your own personal life! Your university probably has a lot of this work going on(maybe in in the Black Student Union, local NAACP chapter etc.)

15:33:52 From Angelina Jones-Farley : I co-sponsored the first ever BSU at my school and constantly had to explain why it existed

15:33:54 From SHANNON SMOOT to All panelists : agreed Jennifer, how can one be a counselor if you are not working to develop an anti-racist identity and professional framework? That has BEEN at the CENTER of our work ESP in a system that upholds the status quo and works HARD to channel to Prison Industrial complex. thank you for saying that!

15:34:10 From Yolanda Spiva to All panelists : as a human being that shouldn't be an option either. ethics is about. humanity!

15:34:11 From Sonia Warmuth to All panelists : I wish school staff and the community could hear you all speaking about this,Ã

15:34:11 From Kelsey Richardson : Im like so happy as a black counselor in a rural county to not have to physically be in the building right now....I know parents, students, and other staff would say or do things to invaliddate my feelings

15:34:37 From Gwendolyn Hamby to All panelists : Kelsey, I am so sincerely sorry to hear that.

15:34:49 From Angela Mcverry to All panelists : let's go everyone! I plan on helping write curriculum for a class on social justice and equality. for all 6th 7th and 8th graders. so excited!!

15:35:33 From Yolanda Spiva to All panelists : you are awesome, Jennifer for operating in excellence and ethicality!

15:35:36 From Krystal Clemons : As a school counselor educator, I've had students say in my course evaluations that I should "lay off the race stuff"

15:35:39 From Crystal Lopez to All panelists : Thank you for that 15:36:08 From Matthew Shervington to All panelists : Kelsey, I am 100% there with you! I am the first educator of color ever hired in the history of my very rural district. It is only now with recent events that more staff have desired to learn my very real experience.

15:36:23 From Kelsey Richardson : smh Krystal

15:36:24 From Ben Hildner : @Krystal Clemons you must be doing something right.

15:36:25 From Erin K. : Krystal, that is so disheartening.

15:36:36 From Yvette Carter to All panelists : We work for our district not for ASCA. So how do we respond to district level administrators when they don't want to address social justice and advocacy.

15:36:40 From Christina Welch to All panelists : Needed that reminder on how to handle being called into the office. Thank you! My school is 1% minority and 99% mountain rural. I get called in a lot to the office to address parents and to have a ready to go tool is great!!

15:36:40 From SHANNON SMOOT to All panelists : YES!

15:36:52 From Kelsey Garcia Faber : I am a white school counselor who has gotten push back for addressing these critical issues with students and families, and it's tough when admin doesn't support because they are afraid of confrontation. I love the idea of posting and regularly referring to the ASCA statements. Thank you!!

15:37:24 From Ingrid Smith : Cultural position statement...doing this

15:37:24 From Kelsey Richardson : my admin hasnt said anything because they dont like confrontation

15:37:26 From Rossy C. Garcia : @Krystal - that's a huge part of the issue - folk want us to "lay off the race stuff" because to them it doesn't exist

15:37:27 From Levette Hull : Our dept. as a counseling podcast and the last two episodes along with our weekly newsletter have been regarding racial injustices, black lives matter, being an ally, etc. We've had several families threaten to go to the Superintendent. We encourage them to do what they have to do :) We refuse to be silent anymore

15:37:30 From Kelsey Richardson : and I am upset about that 15:37:34 From Daya Patton to All panelists : We have to be intentional.

15:37:34 From Lisa Allison to All panelists : I plan to post these ASCA statement in my office too!

15:37:44 From Sophia Rose, PhD : Yes, conversations about race relations and supporting our black students, but not only for the black students. It is a conversation for each student in the school population.

15:38:05 From Alicia Oglesby to All panelists : Good for you Levette!

15:38:10 From Hannah Jeter : Levette, can you share a link to the podcast?

15:38:12 From Denise Massey : I agree! Being able to refer back to the ASCA National Model to support the work that we are doing is a great way to continue to advocate for our students

15:38:12 From Lucy Dorlus : Also support for black staff members @Sophia

15:38:17 From Levette Hull : Sure thing.. hold please!

15:38:28 From Robin Bedford to All panelists : Levette, are your podcasts available on your school,Äôs website? If so, how could we listen to them?

15:38:44 From Levette Hull :

15:39:31 From Levette Hull : can be found on Spotify and apple podcast too. No problem :) We are just doing what we can 15:39:32 From Yvette Carter to All panelists : I'm also a black school counselor in my district. There are only 2 black female counselor in a district with 13000 students and 30 school counselors total. My principals, assistant superintendent and superintendent don't talk about social justice issues or advocate for the 20% of students of color.

15:39:32 From Anne Henry : Levette's work with her department is fantastic! Truly, they are groundbreaking.

15:39:34 From lane madsen : I would love input on blog posts that I'm working on with the topic.

15:39:35 From Gloria Valentin to All panelists : Amen Marsha!!!!

15:39:37 From Deborah Blume to All panelists : We CANNOT be FEAR based in our response and lesson delivery. So often I see my colleagues behave in fear based ways. It does not serve any of the students to do this.

15:39:37 From Kelly Greenberg : Yes!!!!!! Thank you, Dr. Rutledge!!!

15:39:40 From Levette Hull : Thanks Anne :)

15:39:42 From Erin K. : Levette, that's fantastic. I'm in Fairfax County.

finally saw, through conversations with students and observing them in classes as to how profoundly deep the systemic racism and oppression is embedded in current practices. If we can change this in our schools, and get our communities on board, only then will we see change on a large scale. It's cliché, but the children are our future to help make that change happen. If we listen to them, we can help support that change.

16:18:53 From Rose Bornstein Bedoya to All panelists : This conversation was exactly where I needed to be right now-thank you so much. It was a disheartening week after I shared a list of organizations with my middle school staff, and some teachers shared it with students, and then there was a ton of pushback from parents, and our principal did not react as I wish he had. I literally had a conversation with a police officer father of a student who said "tolerance.org is a hate site" and another parent who said "The Southern Poverty Law Center is anti-Christian." I am not giving up, I know that is not an option. But it is so true that we can only do this work as far as our admin allows us. Thank you all so much.
